

Q.

Why is the Levi's brand of clothing so popular?

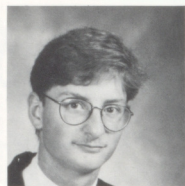

MYTH: It offers quality and style at a good price.

A.

"Levi's" is an anagram for "Elvis," and people are subliminally attracted to it.

Crystal Adams

Jimmy Adamson

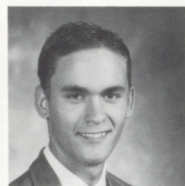

Johnny Adamson—Remember, it is not easy to be yourself; but you can become your own self, not like everybody else.

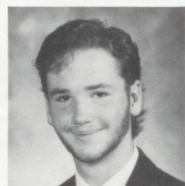

Jessica Alman—It's been tuff, but we made it. Thanks for the memories, guys.

Oswaldo Amador

Dennis Amun—Don't commit yourself to something if you're not going to give it your all.

Will Anderson—If a rock falls, step out of its way. Learn from the past and your mistakes. I still love your eyes!

Cindy Arnold—Tucker, I don't know what I would have done without you. I love you (more)!

Sage Ashley

Jessie Baird

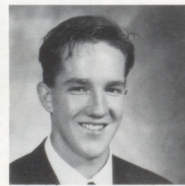

Jonathon Ballard—It's been great all of these years. Keep playing volleyball, NK & VD. See ya, BG, DD, CB. Later, Dumpty!

If you ever come across a senior staring off into space with a dazed, blank look on his or her face, the most probable explanation is that this member of the class of '94 is trying to answer the age-old question—"What am I going to do after graduation?" There are so many choices, opportunities, dreams, and nightmares that a person's head starts to swim. Around MHHS, a popular post-high school choice is college. A few people develop clear and detailed plans early in their senior year, people like Stacy Carpenter. She plans to move "back to Illinois, move into an apartment with her best friend and go to Blackhawk Community College, major in psychology or education, and continue her second two years at a branch of Western Illinois University." Many may not have all the college details worked out, but they know they want to leave Mountain Home. Shirley Gray wants to "attend college in Branson, MO, and get out this town." And Paul Strauble says that "Lord willing it will be somewhere else other than Mountain Home." College is not the only answer, however. The military is a good choice for some like Wesley Ramsey. "At the end of the summer, I'm going to the army. . . I've already taken the oath." People like Bob Harris have careers in mind; he is going to be a fireman. "I'm going to the fire academy in Camben, AR," he says. Matrimony is another option for couples such as Cindy Arnold and Tucker Staples. "I'm going to college here, and he's going to build houses with my dad," Cindy explains. Inevitable though it is, a few have trouble thinking seriously about the future. Jenny Byrd plans college but only so that she can "continue her lust for Jayson and Kenny." Big Guthrie wants simply to "hang out with Benji and Tucker, of course. They have no idea what's going on." Yes, life after high school can be a scary thought. We might all like to be bums and mooch off our parents, but we know we can't. It's time to cut the umbilical cord and enter the real world.

Tawny Bradley-PS, JM, CS, SB, EC, until we meet again, I love you guys. Cher-Cher, friends always. Peace!

Kerri Branstetter-PT, MB, SC, JB, JO, JL, KE, thank for the memories! I love you!

John Bremer

Tonya Brewer-To my friends, I appreciate all the good times we had. To my family, thanks for pushing me. Love you all!

John Bremer: "In third grade I thought Missy Brandon was the world." Jenny Byrd: "I had a crush on the Incredible Hulk, but in kindergarten we used to chase Benji Mahan around the playground with our hula-hoops." Travis Walsh: "My first crush was Rose O'Dell; I was two." Johnny Adamson: "When I was in kindergarten I had a crush on a 17-year-old girl who rode my bus." Although a few seniors claimed that their first crushes were too long ago to remember, we have a feeling that they really do. After all, who can forget that cute boy with the blond hair or the "babe" with the big blue eyes.

ust puppy love-first crushes, old memories

In kindergarten we thought that boys were "icky" and girls were "gross." But somewhere along the line we developed our first crushes. These were the days when a boy called a girl a "cootie," and it meant that he liked her. Oh, how the times have changed! Although we've all grown up and found other loves, we will never forget our first crush. So for old times' sake, let's reminisce. Kari Kemmerer: "It was Jeff Priebe; we kissed behind the big oak tree in second grade." Corie Fratesi: "My first crush was Jason Kirby. We used to play kiss tag in second grade, and he would run around me so no one else could kiss me." Jody Hodges: "Mine was Courtney Kent; when she would come up to me, I would run like heck!" Peeta Trivitt: "I liked Justin Ingram; I gave him my

Q.

Why do all teachers give major exams on the same day?

MYTH: Because of the natural cycle of chapters and units, major tests often fall closely together; however, the way in which tests are scheduled is purely coincidental.

A.

It is a carefully planned strategy so that all student kickbacks will arrive on the same day as teacher paychecks.

"MY FAVORITE THINGS" provides the music for Martina Timmons (above) to do one of her favorite things—twirl with the MHHS band. This early morning homework session outside the library is not a favorite thing, but it is a necessary one for Diana Cockrum, Shannon Gaddy, Amy Watroba, Will Anderson and Vince Daniel.

Kristin Ellis

Misty Farris - Thanks to all my buds that made this year so special. Good Luck, Seniors '94. God Bless.

Kevin & Julia #1

Everyone of us has a heart throb, someone who has stolen our affection and who sneaks into our dreams every night. Of course, we know the romance could never be; after all, rock stars and movie idols don't find high school students in Mountain Home, Arkansas, and propose marriage. But we can fantasize, can't we? These are the actors, actresses, and bands that seniors chose as their all-time favorites.

Sarah Hippely - Erin, let's compare rears. Cammie, see you at FF '94. Tracy, with his teeth? Guys, get a life! (and a job)

Jody Hodges - To BC, TCB, RC, DH, JH, and ME, Thanks for being there when I needed someone.

Shannon Hodges - We're out of here. I'll see you in college. Happy trails to ya.

Tracy Holland - Mark, I will always love you. Thanks for everything. You guys have been great friends.

Q.
Why are seniors always broke?

MYTH: They are paying for cars, insurance, gas, and clothing. They are also saving money for their education.

A.
Seniors are making secret payoffs to the guidance counselors in order to get that crucial 24th credit.

Q.
Why are TVs in classrooms?

MYTH:
TVs are useful educational tools.

A.
Teachers are secretly addicted to Beavis and Butt-head.

Pool's the thing

At school and at home, every Friday night and every Saturday, the same question is asked countless times--"What is there to do in this town?" Here are a few of the answers the class of '94 gave about things to do, places to go, and radio stations to listen to while you are getting there.

FAVORITE HANGOUT

1. Lee's
2. McDonald's
3. Harp's
4. Boyfriend/girlfriend's house
5. Pizza Hut

FAVORITE ACTIVITIES

1. Playing pool
2. Skiing
3. Church activities
4. Parties
5. Riding horses

RADIO STATIONS

Cynthia Lynch

Diana Lynch

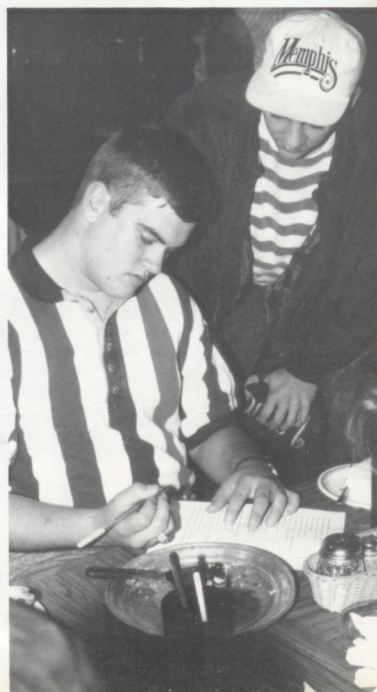

Christie Magee

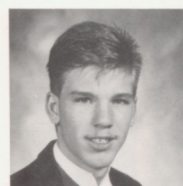

Benji Mahan - Live for today, have fun, and play with a reckless abandon.

Friends of all species

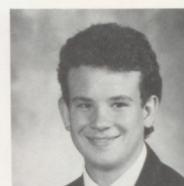

Friends come and friends go, especially when the friend is a pet. Some seniors recalled a few of the unusual friends that they have had over the years. Several pets fall into the cute or cuddly department like Chad McBride's parakeet, who slept upside down, or Connor Nickels' baby chipmunk, who had to be fed goat's milk through an eye dropper by Connor's mom. Others in this category might be Katie Flippo's squirrel named Nutty; Shirley Gray's three foxes and one possum; Kim Mansfield's three cats named Larry, Curly and Moe; or Tawny Bradley's two cows named Hamburger and T-Bone. Probably cute but slightly more pitiful was Shaun Massey's half-dead rabbit who lived in a box for four days before a dog chewed him up. And then there's the cute but dumb pet like Deborah Spencer's cat who liked nighttime activity. He would run down a long hallway in her house and slam into the wall; then he would, in his best Garfield imitation, act like he meant to do it. Many seniors have looked to the pig family for pet companionship; Amy Wollert, for example, named her Bart. Justin Ingram, Kenna Cole and Beth Pendergrass have specialized in the pot-bellied variety of the porcine family. Beth, in fact, named hers Caesar because when he grunts it sounds like he is saying, "Pizza, Pizzal!" Other strange mammals have found their way into the hearts of some seniors. Kristi Kesler has a bat who lives in the corner of her garage, and Amy Watroba once had a one-eyed pat rat named Ozzy. Although he cost only $2 at a pet store, Amy was willing to spend $80 when he needed rodent surgery. Many seniors, however, apparently find the more cold-blooded and slithery creatures appealing. Corie Frales once had an alligator, and Will Anderson was the proud owner of a hermit crab. Cassie Queen kept seahorses while Tucker Staples took care of a horny toad. Vince Daniel has

Kim Mansfield - Angie, Dorothy, Derith, have fun but don't be too rough on the guys. Everyone else, stick in there.

Jeremy Martin

Jim Martin

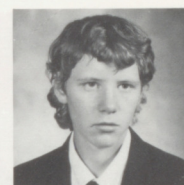

Pam Martin

Shaun Massey - Psalms 42:1-2

Chad McBride - MB, BJ, RT, CS, DT, LT, and SQUEAKY, thanks for all the great memories. I'll never forget you; I love you all!

Jeremy McDaniel

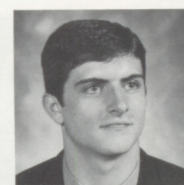

Amy McLean - Hollie, Jackie, Eric, love you guys! Mom Dad, Becky, thanks for everything: love ya!

Ellie McMinden - Thanks to all my friends who have welcomed me here. It's been a great 3 years. I love you all!

Cody McNabb

Derek McWilliams - If I don't see ya sooner, I'll see ya later.

Derrick Messick

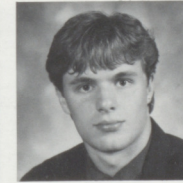

Mark Meyer - Maybe somewhere down the road always you'll think of me and wonder where I am these days...

Joanna Misemer - TB, CS, BE, SB, EC, LJ, JS, may the echo of our laughter be heard long after the curtain falls. Love, Peace, God

John Morrison

SENIOR LEADERSHIP is a vital commodity for any successful school activity; without that special zest and spirit, things just wouldn't be nearly as much fun. Benji Mahan and Rus Weatherby plan their special strategy for an SCA/FCA scavenger hunt for food.

Q.
Why is the lighting so dim in the student lounge?

MYTH: It helps to create a pleasant atmosphere for eating and socializing.

A.
The low-intensity light does not disturb the nocturnal habits of the cockroaches.

Kim Nicholson

Connor Nickels - 911, AP, and 4th hour Mr. Flanagan's. Thanks, KK, JPC, KK, RX, MFR, SS.

Mike Noah

Glen Novak - Trust the Lord; He will be with you always.

Crystal Novotny

Elizabeth Nuccio - Banana men do it better, but Kumquats do it best!

Phillip Olivio

Valarie O'Neill - To all my friends, I love you. Jenn-no more potted meat. Becca & Val, best friends always. Love ya, JAS

Jamie Owen - JW, MT, KT, SC, PT, MB, thanx 4 a special year. JL, u are the b/f ever. KK, we'll always have the memories!

Erin Pack - Sarah, Think I'll get a second chance? Tracey, sing "Hold On." Cammie, I'm not looking. Yee-Haw!

Krystal Pangle

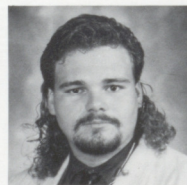

Todd Papineau

Gloria Parnell

Beau Patrick - Always remember "A country boy can survive." Hey, Ryan, Kansas City Super Bowl bound. Matt. 10.16

Chris Patton

Beth Pendergrees - It's not as gentle as it sounds, as though it sounded yesterday, when I heard a leaf of my life hit the ground.

BUSY, BUSY, BUSY! That's how you describe a senior's life. For Heather Guthrie (above, performing at a pep rally), hours of practicing to perfect each Bomberette routine consumes her time. Shelley Thyrrellus volunteers her spare moments to work on posters for a SAVE project.

Q.

Why is ceramics such a popular course?

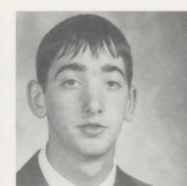

MYTH: It offers students the opportunity to experience creative freedom in a relaxed atmosphere.

Sniffing wet clay gives a really cool mind-altering experience.

Jennifer Petty - Lord, I praise you, for you are my strength and I love you. Help me to keep my light shining for you!

Bobby Plumlee

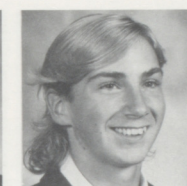

Matthew Pratt - Always strive for more than you are.

Beth Priborsky - Smile and nod.

Jeff Priebe - The white lines are getting longer; the saddle is getting cold; and we are much too young to feel this old.

Stonie Pringle

The call of the wild - pets

fond memories of his pet worm named Bruno, and Diana Cockrum will always treasure her time with Arby, her pet tarantula. Kevin Cotter has an iguana with an unusual habit; if he is eating and you look at him, he will stop chewing and pretend that he is not eating even when there is food hanging out of his mouth. Although their friendship was brief, Tara Torrance remembers her pet grasshopper, who lived for three weeks. Turtles have been popular pets for many seniors, but Kathy Toblesky had a special problem with hers who was named Frankie. Apparently Frankie had a real problem with body odor, and six-year-old Kathy tried to help him out by applying a generous amount of her dad's Speed Stick deodorant to him. Fortunately the turtle did survive and lived to a ripe old age. Misty Standage's lizard was not so lucky; but when he died, her parents stuck him in the freezer so that Misty could shellac him when she returned home from a long trip. Derek McWilliams' pet newt also had a tragic death. Derek's friend lived in the unair-conditioned upstairs of his grandmother's old house. One hot summer day, Derek found him "kinda all bloated up," apparently dead of a heat stroke. Benjamin Van Eps' experience with amphibians was also sad although it started off well. Benjamin sent away for a Grow-a-Frog, and a few days later he received in the mail a tadpole in a styrofoam container; it ultimately grew into a full-fledged frog. When his frog reached the age of five, Benjamin's family decided to move to Mountain Home and take the frog with them, of course. But just as their moving van reached the city limits of our town, the frog croaked, so to speak. Yes, pets have been an important part of many seniors' lives. But however strange or troublesome they might have been, friends are nothing to bark, grunt, ribbit, tweet, or hiss about—although these special comrades probably voiced their affection for their owners in just that way.

Cassie Queen - Those who don't expect too much will never be let down. Thanks for everything, Kelley!

Wesley Ramsey - To all my friends-JS, VO, RC, JC-the past 7 years were the greatest! JSG, I'll love you forever!

Embarrassing moments--oops!

Buried deep in the recesses of our minds are events we all wish we could forget; these are moments that make us blush just to think about them, moments like the time you dropped you tray in the cafeteria or the time your shorts fell off in gym class. What is your most embarrassing moment? Oh, come on; don't hide it. We've all been humiliated in front of huge crowds at one time or another. Here are some memories that a few seniors would probably just as soon forget. For some strange reason, many of our worst moments involve pants or underwear. Cammie Johnson, for instance, recalls a horrible day when her good friend Erin Pack decided to pull up Cammie's dress in the middle of the hall. She can take comfort in one thought, however; at least she had on good underwear. (See! Your mother was right when she told you always to wear good clean ones.) Travis Walsh once had the pulling down of his pants recorded on video, and Shaun Massey suffered the worst indignity when he had his pants pulled down in front of everyone on a church trip. Jackie Wood's embarrassing moment not only involved pants but also violence. She was at Heidi Knettel's house when nature called and she had to use the bathroom. While she was using the facilities, a bunch of guys walked in (roving bands of bathroom marauders??), and Jackie had to beat them out of there with a plunger. But it is John Bremer's pants episode that might have had the biggest audience of all. John recalls, "I was running the football my sophomore year on Friday night in a varsity game. I had broke out in the open when a safety for the opposing team caught up to me and barely grabbed ahold of my pants. My belt unlooped and my pants came down. All I had on was my jock strap. I mooned everyone in Bomber Stadium." The opposite sex is also a big reason for embarrassment. Peeta Trivitt remembers a time in junior high when she fell down flat on her face in front of this guy she liked. And Tawny Bradley suffered humiliation when, in front of a date, her mother reminded her, "Don't forget to tinkle." Sometimes, however, an embarrassing moment is hard to predict; it can strike at any time as Valerie O'Neill found out. Once with a group of friends, she was made to laugh so hard that she squirted milk out of her nose. (Not funny, Valerie said. It hurt.) And then there's Jeff Priebe's most embarrassing moment: he remembers being covered in manure. We won't even guess what kind of friends Jeff has or why they would have that much barnyard by-product. Benji Mahan's worst moment involves an issue of the nineties. He explained it this way. "I was out with my girlfriend and her family at Gaston's. I was with her whole family, seventeen of them. Well, when my girlfriend was in Washington, D.C., they ate at a Lebanese restaurant. Everything was quiet, and I asked about this particular restaurant. I didn't say Lebanese, though; I asked about a LESBIAN restaurant. Everybody stopped eating and looked at me. They all died laughing. It was a unique situation." Regardless of the circumstances—falling pants, falling down, or falling into something really smelly—we've all had an embarrassing moment; and our faces get hot just thinking about it.

Plastic is the only material that the gravy won't eat through

Miranda Sinor

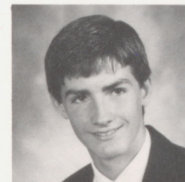

Charles Sreenk

Brent Smith

Kelley Smith - Cass and all the rest of the gang, we made it and I'll never forget all of the memories we've made!

Matthew Smith - When fear knocked on the door, faith answered and no one was there.

Susanah Smith - Tracy & Kim, we will laugh and rejoice together again someday in heaven. Love, Your Big Sis

Debbie Spencer - Every rose has its thorn. Never say good-bye. STOW IT, BABY!

Misty Standage - There is no such thing as exaggerated art. I even believe that there is salvation only in the extreme. -Vincent Tucker Staples - You've always been there for me. You're my best friend and my lover. I'll always love you, Cindy.

Clay Starkey

Amanda Steele - Make every day the best it can be because you don't get another chance until tomorrow.

Brandi Steen - What do you think they would say if I stood up and walked away? Nobody understands me, so I'll wave goodbye.

Jason Stephens - To my friends, thanks for the great times! LJ, BD, RB, EB, keep the tenor section great. Valerie, I love you.

Ryan Stone - Castles made of sand fall into the sea eventually. To all the Mexican Blackcats and all the cabin days.

Paul Straubel - God doesn't want wimps. He wants warriors because life isn't a joke. It's a war out there. Joshua 1:9

Angela Struckle - Mom & Dad, I love you! Amanda, I wish you luck in all you do! EW, I love you. Thanks for the memories!

Jared Studner

Joe Tharpe

Shelley Thryselius

Martina Timmons - It's finally time to say goodbye. To my friends, you will never know how much you mean to me. I love you.

GOING OVER THE EDGE with only a thin rope between you and the ground 100 feet below—it's a thrill that Chris Troeger finds irresistible.

Kathy Toblesky - JL, my best friend 4-ever and a day; KP, Fiesta! BF & DM, 4ever; ER, U of A; JCD, luv u; Band, keep it up!

Tara Torrance - Hey, Mist, I'm going to college and learn how to be nice to people! Thanks, Misty & April, it's been fun.

Peeta Trivett - Never look at anything as a problem, only as an opportunity. All my love always, MB, SC, KB, KT Chris Troeger - Where's the AP Rag, guys? Be good, CB, CB, TB, DD, or at least good at it.

Carrie Tylee - Hey, Jerry, it's finally over. JW & TT, I'll miss you guys. Raisin Bean and Chicken 4-ever.

Bridget Udorvich

Kristie Unger - To my good friends, thanks for all the fun times and memories. I love you, Mikey!

Benjamin Van Eps - Two things are low in life—ACT scores and money.

U till a kid

Before the time comes when you have to assume real responsibilities, find a moment for yourself. There's time to be a kid and to take advantage of the things you're still carefree enough to do—things such as

1. Go on a trip with your friends to a place like Cancun or Fort Lauderdale.
2. Let your parents pay your way for EVERYTHING.
3. Do something dangerous: sky dive, bungee jump, go white water rafting or rapelling.
4. Go to a concert that no one over thirty would ever attend, one like Pearl Jam, Def Leppard, or GNR.
5. Quite your job just because you want to.
6. Buy totally frivolous things like tons of stereo equipment, a funky hat, or a $150 tennis shoes.
7. Eat Spaghetti-Os or Skittles for a meal.
8. Fly a kite or take a wagon ride with a friend.
9. Build a sheet-and-pillow fort.
10. Ride on a merry-go-round or swing in the park.
11. Eat the frosting out of the Oreos first.

Q.

Why do members of the administrative staff carry walkie-talkies?

MYTH: These devices help to maintain essential communication and provide effective security.

A.

They lead lonely lives, and the walkie-talkies help them feel a sense of companionship.

Karl Vielbaum - Do unto others as they've done to you!

Liz Vimini - Yes, there are two paths you can go by; but in the long run, there's still time to change the road you're on.

Joey Vinson

Trisha Wallace - Stand up for your beliefs and strive for perfection. SC, DC, AW, SW, TH, JW, thanks for everything.

Jason Walls

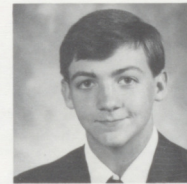

Travis Walsh - In the end some things are better left unknown, unsaid, and to the imagination.

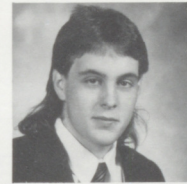

Amy Watroba - Enjoy life today because yesterday is gone and tomorrow may never come. DC, TW, SC, I love you all!!!

Aaron Watson - Live life in the present, not in the future.

Rus Weatherly

Matt Wheat

Joe Wilbanks - Learn the concept; then use your instincts.

Derrick Williams - The squeaky wheel gets the grease.

Darrin Wilson

Aimee Wollert - Some men see things as they are and say why. I dream things that never were and say why not. RFK

Jackie Wood - Despair shouldn't be anyone's nature. If there is pain, it will pass; another day will come. John 3:16

Adrian Woodbury

IT'S SERIOUS BUSINESS to be a senior, but somehow we cope with the stresses. Sometimes we let the giggles take over like Kathy Toblesky (above) does, or we do what Jessica Alman and Kelley Smith advise—find a friend to take your mind off the pressures.

Tommy Wren

Steffanie Kenney - Tharx to all my friends for puttin' up with me. Kari, we made it: K-12. UR the best! BFA

Michelle Martin - "... And the days go by, like a strand in the wind, in a web that is my own."

Belinda Moreno - To all my family and friends, thanks for always believing in me. To my best friend, Tammy, thanks for all the fun times, especially for your cuz. LD, I love you!

John Morrison - But you don't understand; we're in A.P. CN's metamorphosis in Bio; MMDC

Mary Frances Ruthven - "The struggle itself towards the heights is enough to fill one's heart."-Camus

Oscar Schlaf - Nihil Nisi Optimum

Jaine Waltz - CT, TT, BP: we'll always be buddies, no matter how successful I become. BM, you'll always be my crush.

Revati Zapulowski - Shine bright and blazing every day, and let the world witness your brilliance.

J.P. Campbell

Tana Lines - To EP, TH, and CJ, I love you guys!

Q.

Why do seniors have their own parking lot?

MYTH: After 12 years they have earned this special privilege?

A.

The lot has reinforced concrete to support the immense weight of SR. egos.
